

Case Manager Dementia Training Post-Training Evaluation: Module 5

1. When filling out the DON-R, the following might be clues that the client has dementia: Check all that apply.
 a) vague or random answers
 b) frequently deferring questions to family members
 c) difficulty recalling recent events or circumstances
2. The effect of dementia/cognitive impairment on a person's functioning should be considered when scoring the DON-R.
 True
 False
3. If a person has had a weight loss of 10% or more over the course of six months, medical attention is advised.
 True
 False
4. Soiled clothing might indicate that: Check all that apply.
 a) the person forgets to change clothes
 b) the person may be depressed and unmotivated
 c) the person may have forgotten how to operate the washing machine
5. A person with Alzheimer's MUST be bathed daily.
 True
 False
6. Some potential strategies to help decrease episodes of incontinence include: Check all that apply.
 a) make it easy to find the bathroom—label the door, or put a sign/picture on it
 b) Withhold fluids after 2:00 PM every day
 c) establish a toileting schedule
7. The loss of ability to manage money is often one of the earliest signs of dementia.
 True
 False
8. The client is not always an accurate source of information.
 True
 False
9. Which of the following might indicate that a person is having cognitive problems? Check all that apply.
 a) used to enjoy cooking but no longer cooks
 b) fails to keep appointments or gets the day/time wrong
 c) gets turned around/lost in familiar places 10. Elements of a good, thorough comment on the DON-R include: Check all that apply.
 a) stating which essential components of the area of functioning that the person cannot do/what the limitations are
 b) saying in the comment only that the person has dementia, with no other details
 c) detailing the kind of support the person receives